Five minutes doesn't seem to be enough for some.

We've got the T-E-A-M that's on the B-E-A-M!

International bike race on... No! It's the G.A.A. bike hike.

People Are Happenin' All Over the School

Here we are, about 800 students, weaving in and out of classes like spiders in a web. We come---and we go in a seemingly senseless manner. Why?

We have rows and rows of lockers lined up side by side with hardly enough room to squeeze in a hot pastrami and pepperoni on rye. Why?

We've searched under microscopes, through textbooks, and various other sources; and we finally came upon the greatest discovery since alka-seltzer. We have discovered the answers to the baffling question, "Why do we come to school?"

Take a look down that long corridor filled with students of every size, color, and I. Q., ask any one of them, and each one will give you a different answer.

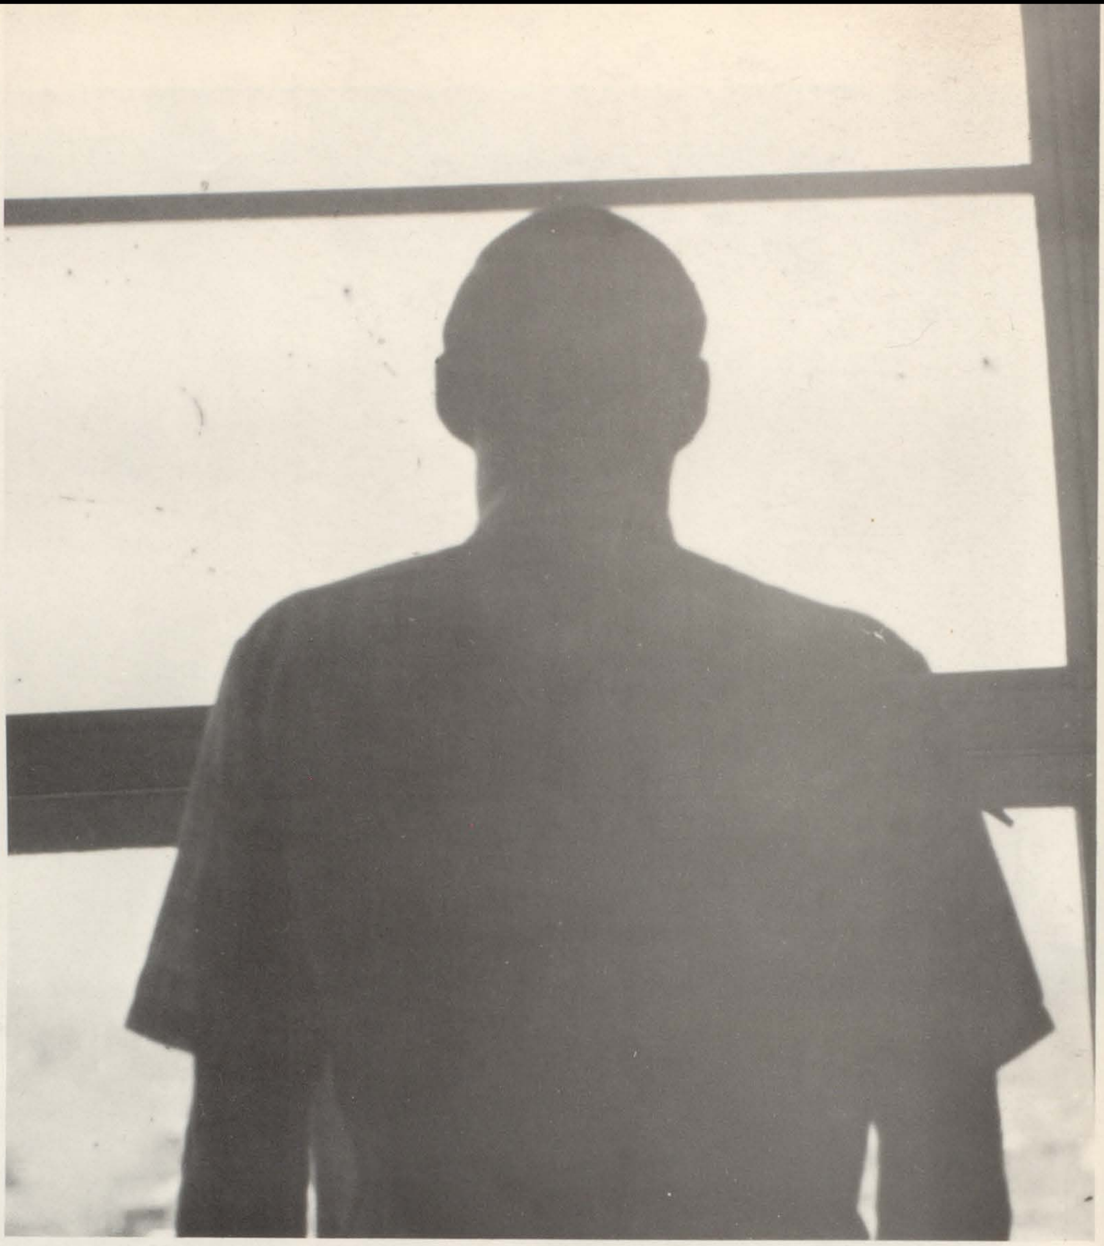

That tall, husky boy who's rushing to his locker will surely tell you that his reason for coming to school is that he enjoys it---that answers are to be found there if he would just look for them. He finds it a thrill to solve mentally exhausting problems. Maybe this boy will someday become a Newton or a Curie. Who knows?

Now take a quick peek into the study hall. You see at a desk a thin boy with glasses. Ask him why he goes to school. He turns slowly around to face you and looks at you with owl-like eyes. Then, he says, "Well, you see, all my life I've been nothing. I don't go out for sports. I haven't the time. I stay here almost all the time---studying. I want that diploma in my hand. Then, I can say it's real. I want to graduate from college. Then, I can do anything---be anyone. Then, I can say---I'm real."

So you go back to the school and find yourself pacing up and down the halls again. You almost fall against a water fountain as three girls brush past you, talking in excited giggles. "Honest, Mary, I don't have a thing to wear to the Prom. I wonder if that old green rag I wore last year will do?" Suddenly you hear a new burst of giggles. "If it weren't for these dances and the boys, you wouldn't care what you wore whenever you DID come to school!"

Window, window
on the wall,
which girl tonight
is getting my call?

As fun as a barrel
full of monkeys...

You step outside for some fresh air and you see a boy sitting on the bottom step, plucking at a blade of grass. He looks kind of sad. So you ask him what his problem is. He tells you that you wouldn't understand. But you insist. Resignedly, he shrugs his shoulders and begins like this:

"Two years ago, when I was in seventh grade, I told my parents that I wanted to quit school. They looked at me and said that it wasn't their fault. I had to go to school because there is a law that makes me go either until I graduate from eighth grade or until I become 16 years of age. So, I said, "o. k. ", and waited to graduate from eighth grade. But when the time came, I asked my parents again if I could drop. They yelled and yelled a loud 'NO' to me several times. They tell me now that I'll have to wait until I'm 16, then I can do anything I want. But I don't believe them anymore. I think they want me to go to college like my brother, Frank. I guess I'll have to do what they want. School---ugh!"

From our point of view, these are but a few of the reasons why we come to school. Some students come because they like to learn, some want to be successful in their adult vocational lives, some want only to make friends and have fun, some are pressured into coming, and some come because they like hot pastrami and pepperoni on rye sandwiches. There are also many other reasons and if they were to become stars, they would fill the heavens. School is truly a peoples' happening, and we, as students are individuals. What makes school your happenin'?

With the help of a few juniors, a freshman can go a long way.

Now is the time for all students to come to the aid of their delinquency, for in high school they are involved with many other students and activities.

One of the many attractions at school was the pie eating contests.

At one of the pie eating contests Mr. Cooley seemed to have the biggest stomach and most gigantic appetite. Also Terri Gardner must have a fairly big mouth to be able to chew five pieces of bubble gum and blow a bubble to win fame and glory for one whole day.

These are but a few of the many great and hilarious activities in which students participated.

Through the next few pages are a few of the activities, which ended their delinquency.

Student Government: Girls and Boys Staters Objective

During the week of June 9-15, Niki Juarez, Jackie Ewan, and Ellen Nasser traveled to Tucson to attend the 1969 Arizona Girls State, held on the campus of the University of Arizona.

During the time they were there, they learned the correct procedures of balloting, elections, and the running of the government for the cities, states, and national government.

Our girls were very active in the elections. Niki won Precinct Committee Woman and County Assessor for the Federalist Party. Jackie won Precinct Committee Woman and County Clerk, for the Nationalist Party. Ellen ran for a state office but was defeated.

It was a fun filled week with many exciting things happening. One girl's boyfriend was so lonesome that he dressed up like a girl and went to the dorm to visit her.

At the end of the week, each girl took a test to find out how much they had learned. The girl with the highest score received a prize.

The Boy Staters went to the campus of N.A.U. during the week of June 8-14. The boys competed in athletics rather than to campaign for offices.

The 1969 Arizona Girl Staters are from top to bottom: Jackie Ewan, Niki Juarez, and Ellen Nasser.

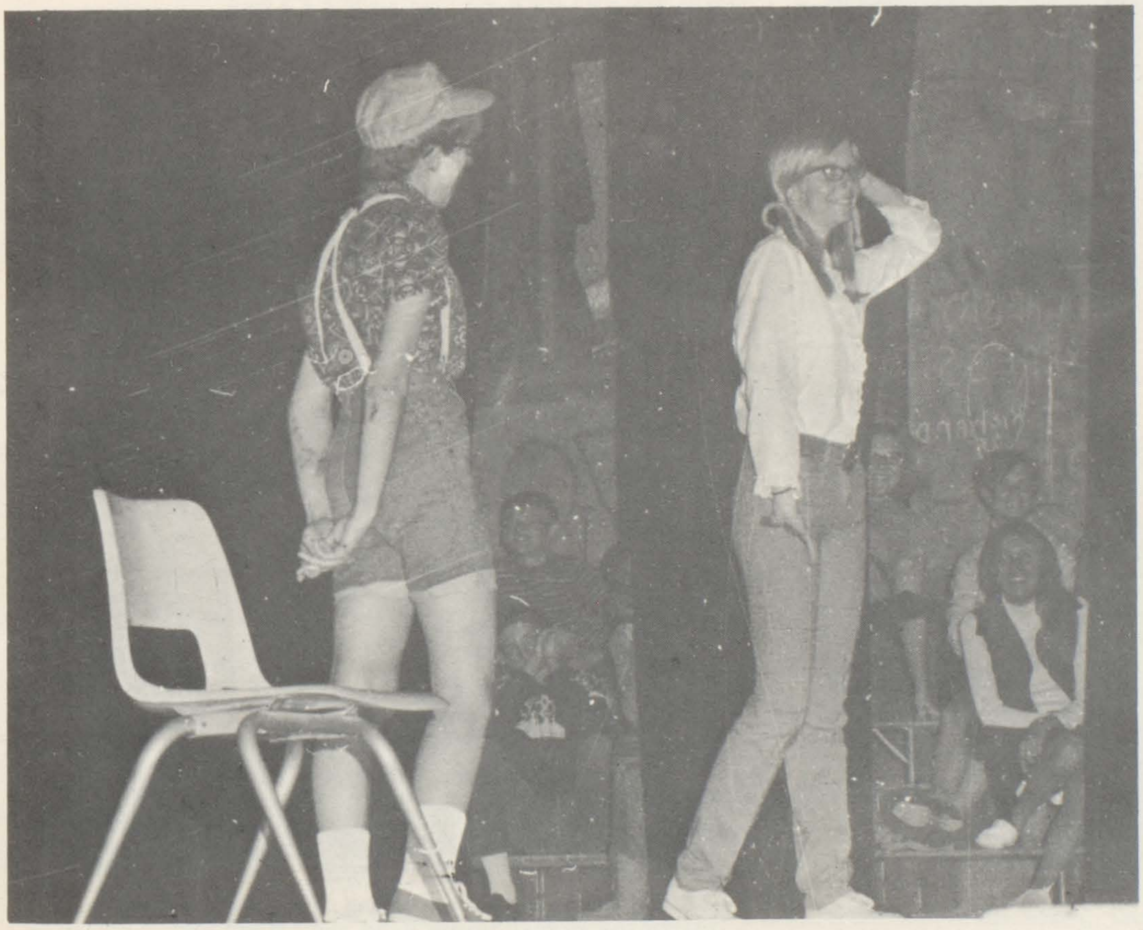

The 1969 Arizona Boy Staters are: Richard Douglas, Danny O'Haco, Bob Benham, and George Kleindienst.

Laughter and Tears,

Below; Mr. Arthur leads the chorus in singing "Scarbourgh Fair." Below left; Debbie Zachry and Cinday Swagarty act out a skit about a little boy who had to memorize "Mary Had A Little Lamb."

Chorus Variety Show was Scarbourgh Fair. Students who attended the program were led through the fair by Lori Jenkins. They watched everything from lovers at the fair to a skit by Cinda Swagarty and Debbie Zachry. They even saw a ballet by Peggy West.

The chorus and Mr. Arthur love songs and Scarbourgh Fair before a background of foliage. While the love songs brought a few tears to the eyes of the sentimental, the hilarious skits brought tears to the eyes of the people who were laughing so hard.

The 1969 Homecoming King Sam Wheeler and Queen Ellen Nasser.

'Homecoming Is' was the theme for the 1969 homecoming assembly. The annual event this year was exciting and also a lot of work as the pep squad got ready to decorate the gym under the direction of Ellen Nasser and Jackie Ewan.

The assembly started and everyone was excited to learn who the new king and queen would be. Chris Nottingham introduced the candidates who were in different sized, shaped, and colored boxes.

The new royalty Ellen Nasser and Sam Wheeler reigned over the entire weeks activities.

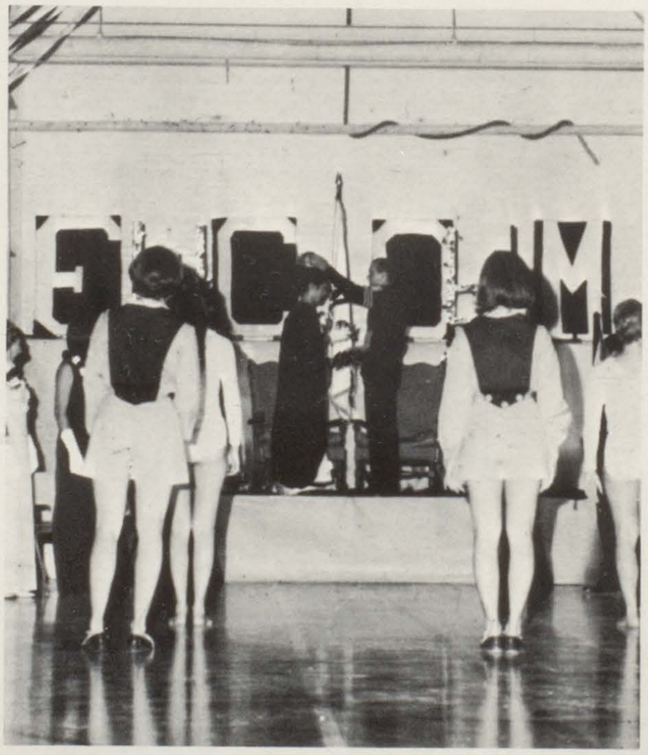

The cheerleaders both young and old were there to help promote the spirit for the upcoming events.

Many acts were done during the assembly and the new dedicate, Mrs. Anne Meikle, was delighted with all the activities.

The parade took place Friday afternoon with the band leading the procession. Next in line were the sophomores with the prize winning float. The parade went through town with people watching from all over.

Later on that night, the football game started and was exciting. The game ended in a tie, but was full of many thrilling plays. It went into over time and ended up with Winslow on top.

The dance followed and brought an end to the Homecoming activities.

After the suspenseful unveiling, the cheerleaders salute the Homecoming King and Queen and Royalty.

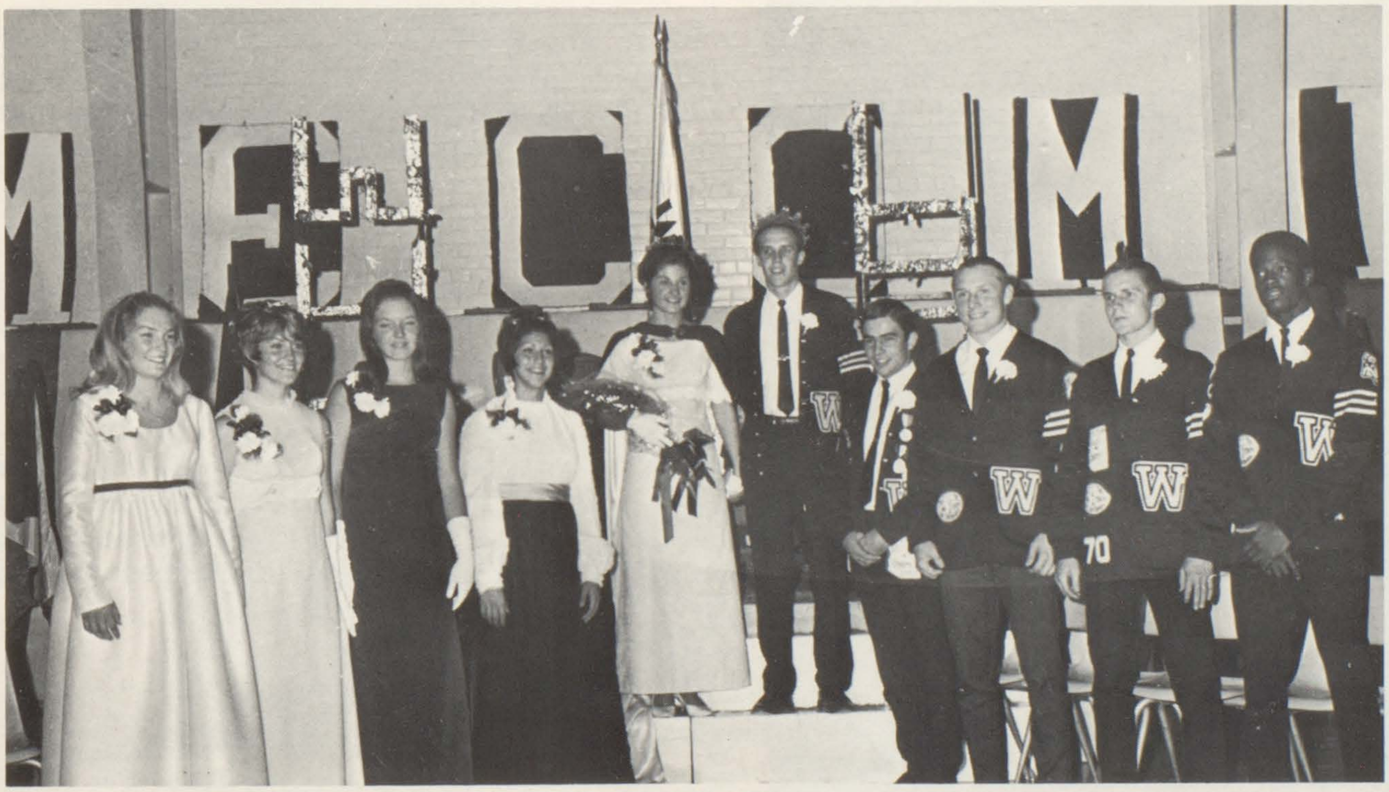

The alumni Cheerleaders come back to W.H.S. '69 Homecoming to demonstrate cheers from the past.

JV football players entertain everyone at Homecoming to the belly dance, "The Bridge Over the River Kwai."

"At the Zoo" Big Top 1970

Front: Juniors; Pauletta Arviso, Bennie Bedoni; Back: Attendants Diana Michaels, Jo Letts, Mary Benham, John Kalisz (walked for Marty Durkin), Earl Wright, and Harry Martin.

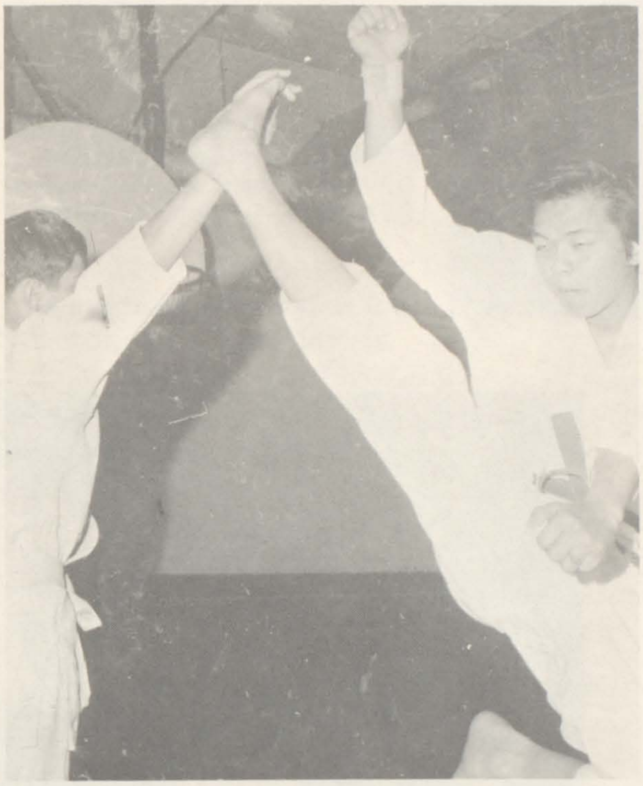

"At The Zoo" was this year's theme for the 1970 Big Top. Masters of Ceremonies, George Kleindienst and Tayva Rhoton, took the audience on a guided tour of the zoo, and all the "animals" cooperated by performing different acts which ranged from dancing to skits to karate. The 1970 Royalty, juniors Pauletta Arviso and Bennie Bedoni, were thoroughly entertained by these acts as were the freshmen, sophomore, and senior attendants.

Some of the acts included a "wayfaring minstrel," Freddie Moore, a couple of cell mates at Folsom Prison (Janet Wemhoener and Neva LaPlante), and a tigress pacing her cage, Christie Nottingham. Fun, entertainment, and talent all contributed to one of the best Big Tops ever.

Mr. Conatser was honored as the 1970 Big Top Dedicatee for his sincere interest in the school and all students.

The enchantment of the sea seemed to enhance the couples who attended the Prom.

'Fantasy of the Sea' was the theme for the 1970 Junior Prom. The Grand March began as the couples passed through the tunnel of time into the fantasy sea world constructed of shades of greens and blues. Fish of all sizes and shapes, treasure chests filled with gems and gold dubloons, created an atmosphere that enchanted all who attended. Reigning from a throne of blue and white was Queen Jackie Ewan. Refreshments were served by mermaids in King Neptune's castle and tables were decorated with creatures of the sea. Girls in their beautiful formals and guys dressed to perfection danced until midnight at which time the fantasy turned back into reality.

The decorations for the prom were headed by the committee consisting of Terri Curtis, Jeanne Soehner, and Mike Faucher. All the juniors worked hard to make the prom a success, and it was.

I wonder what was so funny. It seems everyone didn't notice.

Couples enjoy dancing to the sound of the Viatic Eruptum.

Okay, dress, do your thing!
Transform me into one who swings!
You're more beautiful than most of my joys
So show me how you can bluff the boys!
Where are you, fairy godmother?
Make them think that I'm a lover.
You, feet, yes you, now dance
If I fake it they won't know I'm in a trance
Smile, mouth, and show your teeth.
Don't let peace come out peath!
Steady, hands, don't sweat too much.
His hand holds always seem to crunch.
Be pretty, don't sweat, and please be calm.
The hardest date is the first Prom!

Honors Assembly

The purpose of the assemblies is to acknowledge the achievements of the members that have been active within the various activities.

Everyone wants to be recognized when he has accomplished something. No matter how scared he is, a tingle of pride creeps upon him when he is presented with an award. These awards mean something to his present and future status in school life and society.

The teachers are as proud as the students in presenting awards. Satisfaction is their reward in having counseled the outstanding students.

In the Athletics and Arts and Clubs assemblies some students are presented certificates and letter awards. The most outstanding award in the Athletics Assembly was the Milton Sema Award. This was presented to the most outstanding senior boy, which was Bobby Benham.

In the Honor's assembly students are presented with scholarships in various sports such as: gymnastics, baseball, basketball, track, and football. Other scholarships are presented in chorus, band, orchestra, and scholastics. Those who had very high grades are awarded with scholarships to very fine colleges throughout the country.

Arts and Clubs

Jackie Irvin was presented with a certificate for drama by Mr. Harris.

Roxie Martin was presented a certificate for speech.

Athletics

Mr. Conaster presented his cross-country team with medals and certificates.

Lori Jenkins and Elaine Frame sing theme song of senior banquet.

May I have your tickets please?
Certainly Miss Oare. Mom and Dad, I would like you to meet my government teacher.
Glad to meet you. Remember Johnny, you still have to pass your final if you are to graduate.
Come on Mom. Where do you want to sit?
How about over there? No, I want to sit near the front. Last time I sat near the back everyone was finished eating by the time I got mine.
Aren't those cute bridges. What are they for?
Those are to show the theme "Bridge Over Troubled Water." Remember I made one?
Oh yes!
Let's sit here.
Who is going to give the introductions?
Sam Wheeler. He's the class president.
Oh, here comes the food. Roast beef, mashed potatoes, string beans, and a roll.
Elaine and Lori sure do have pretty voices. I have never heard that song before what is it?
That is the theme song.
What is George Kleindienst talking about?
The Bridge.
Gee, they sure stick to the theme don't they.
There's Rita. I thought she was going to dance. I guess the other two girls didn't show up.
Debbie Zachry is good at making speeches.
That's because she is majoring in it.
That sure did have a lot of work in it and a lot of meaning too.
Dinner is over, Mom and Dad. Shall we go?
Don't forget your bridge, Johnny.
See you later. I'm going to the hop. . .
Come on Mary. We don't want to be late.
Oh, look at that poster.
I wonder who made them.
It was Russell Stowe's and Jim Cahill's idea. Do you want to dance?
OK!
Boy, this gym sure is hot. Let's go get some cool air.
It's midnight! I had better be getting home.
Yea, I guess.
Boy, what a night for the Seniors.
Yea, but it is kinda sad.
Goodnight, Mary.
Goodnight.

Everyone really enjoyed the Senior Hop and the sounds of the Capricios.

Seniors End Year With Final Banquet, Hop, and Class Day

Sam Wheeler presents Terri Curtis with the class key.

Senior Class Day Assembly was held on Monday morning, June 1. The Class poem was read by Debbie Zachry. The wills were then read to the enjoyment and concern of the underclassman. Histories and prophecies were read and the parents as well as the student body enjoyed them. Sam Wheeler presented the class key to Terri Curtis and gave the meaning of the key. Sam gave his farewell address and the class song was sung by the graduates of Nineteen-Hundred and Seventy.

The Assembly was dismissed by the president and everyone parted to go their own way. It was an assembly that will not be forgotten by many of the kids who are now on their way into the future world. Sam gave a speech that will stick in the minds of the graduating class of '70!

Oh, dear, I don't remember where the restroom are!

Don't put that away until I get there, then I'll put it away!

Swimming was the most fun, though, many times it was forced.

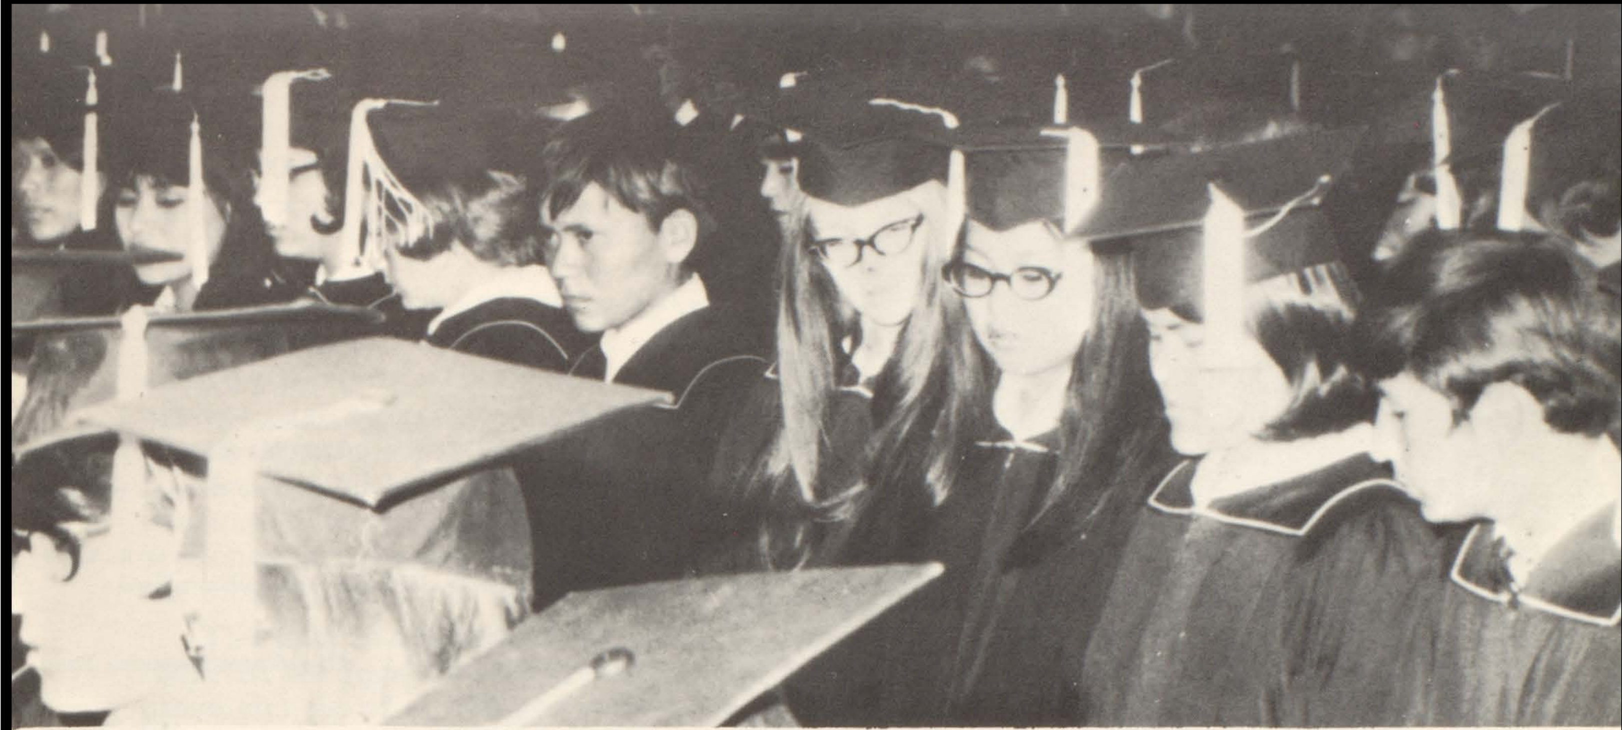

...And then they threw me in. It made me so mad, I swallowed at least a gallon of the the icky water!

Cold Water Soothes Bruised Knees

The seniors gathered at the High School at 7 a.m., some still yawning and others wide awake. Of course, everyone was excited about the trip to Oak Creek. Before long they were off on the Navajo-Hopi tour buses.

As the buses started down the canyon, some SENIORS were frightened by the closeness of the canyon wall and the deepness of the canyon. This was one of the remarks heard in one of the buses, "Quick! take a picture of Carl while he's still white." Upon their arrival at the fun resort area, the class started their day of fun by skating at their own risk. Some inexperienced skaters got banged up well before it was time to move down to slide rock. Here everyone had fun either throwing another down the slide rock or being thrown in, swimming or simply splashing each other with water. Despite all the bruises, little injuries, and soreness that resulted from the trip, everyone was glad he went and said he had fun on senior ditch day.

The senior class joins in on "God of our Fathers".

Baccalaureate

The farewell sermon to the class of 1970 was held on May 31, at 8 p.m. The seniors lined up outside the gym; their eyes sparkling with anticipation. While the band played "Pomp and Circumstances", they marched in with solemn faces. Rev. Wolverton gave the call to worship. "God of Our Fathers" was sung and the invocation was given by Father Donavan. The choir then sang "Now is the Time," after Rev. Fann said a prayer, followed by the band's playing "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," Rev. Sapp's sermon was given, and another song was sung. The class then marched out of the gym after the Benediction.

The program was sad to some students since they knew that this was one of of the last times they would be together as a class, but to others it didn't matter. The speakers each talked about something that made each individual think about his future.

Reverend Sapp emphasized many points in his sermon with his fine humor.

She was selected, though, to be the third speaker at the graduation.

Last High School Happening for Seniors

What is high school graduation? Graduation is a memory held forever by those who have graduated. But what does it really mean? It is a group of parents and their children who are graduating, singing the school's Alma Mater. It is a mother crying, because her baby isn't a baby anymore. It is a joyful boy who can finally leave home and go out on his own. It is a group of ex-students remembering the fun that they used to have when they were kids in high school. It's a girl crying, because her boyfriend is going off to the Navy.

Graduation is this and more to the graduate, but what does it mean to the undergraduate? To one it may be an assembly he can ditch. It may be a lot of long boring speeches during the hottest day and night of the year. The possibilities are great. But the most important ideas has come only to a few under-graduates.

The idea is eerie to say the least. It is imagining that soon the person standing there in the square cap and the choir gown will be you. One day the open door will close you out of all the good times that you had while you were in high school. The only way you will have to go is forward, and you must make your destiny then. No one will be able to make it for you. You will have a lifetime ahead of all your past "good-old-days." You won't be able to go back. It isn't quite as treacherous as it sounds. Rather, it will ever embark upon. So, if you ever wondered what graduation means to a senior during his last days of high school, it can't be spoken or written down on paper. No, it's a feeling that comes to your soul, that you will cherish for the rest of your life.

Richard Douglas gave his address on, "Today's Youth in a World of Change."

Harry Martin delivered his address, "Change, a Necessity."

Happening in Athletics

The excited crowd looks for action at a football game.

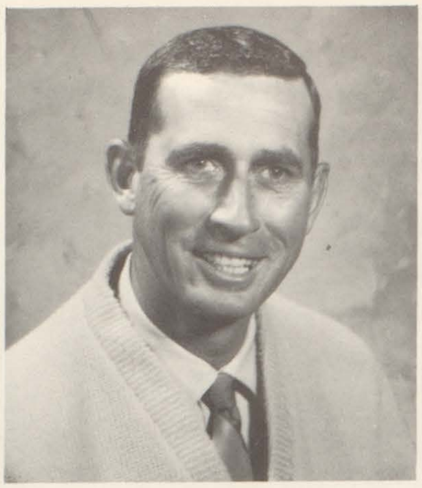

One of the most common places to see people happening is at the various athletic groups available around school. They bring people together to learn how to work together to achieve a goal.

Not only do members go to various places on trips, but they also bring spirit to their school by participating in these groups. The crowds are usually excited about their performance, especially when competition is very close.

Winslow High School Bulldogs had an impressive season this year. They came out of their regular season play with a perfect season. As an overall season record they had 9 wins with only one loss. Their only loss came in the state championship game against Safford and even in this game we only lost by 2 points. Winslow held their opponents scoreless for its first three games. Winslow met last years state champions in its first conference game of the season and defeated them 28 to 8. Winslow was the underrated team of the year. They went in to most of their games this season with odds against them but they fought and overcame these odds and went on to the state championship. Winslow received many comments this year on its exceptional sportsmanship and its overall conduct before and after games.

Winslow played a hard hitting game against Safford for the state title.

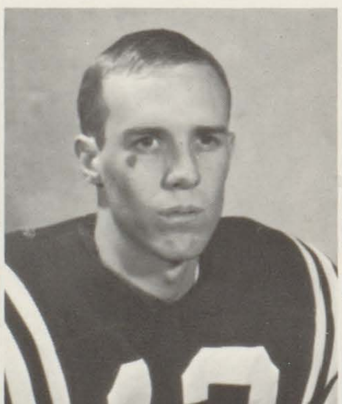

Winslow broke the school record this year by scoring a total of 313 points out of 10 games. This was an average of 31. 3 points a game. Winslow did well in all the catagories by having a total 2353 rushing and 9267 passing for a total of 3280. Winslow had many offensive standouts this year. We had at the first of the year a underated team not even placing in the top ten. We had to work our way to the top. We should have a very fine team next year for many of the teams standouts will be returning again. The offensive team placed four men on all-conference this year. They are George Kleindienst, Bobby Benham, Harry Martin, and Glenn Mattox. George Kleindienst also placed on the all-state team.

This years defense team was anything but a pushover. Throughout the entire season, it was always hard hitting. Winslow held its opponents this year to only 69 points in all of the 10 games. There were many standouts on the defense team this year and many will be returning next year. Winslow had a highly spirited team this year and was always showing it. They were determined from the start and never gave up. There were three men to make all conference and all-state for the defense this year. They were Tom Gilmore, Dewayne Luther, and John Brookerson. # J.V.'s End Season With 5 Wins 1 Loss

The Junior Varsity "A" team completed a very successful season under the tutelage of coaches Hysong and Griffith with a record of five wins and two losses. One loss coming at the hands of the Bulldog Varsity reserves by a score of 13-6.

The J. V.'s opened their season with a resounding 54-0 walkover the Scouts, and the next weekend took a hard hitting contest from the Lobos 13-6. This contest was a real defensive struggle for the Bulldogs. The next win was a romp over the Holbrook Roadrunners 60-0. The defeat by the Varsity reserve team followed, but the J. V.'s won respect from their older competitors for their hard hitting aggressive football. We journeyed to Coconino next to take a 27-6 win over the Panthers on a cold day in Flagstaff. The only real loss of the season came at the hands of the Lobos by a score of 6-8 in a bitterly fought contest. The bulldogs closed out their season with a smashing triumph over the Holbrook Roadrunners 49-0.

The J. V. dominated their opponents in the season long statistics scoring 217 points for an average of 31 points per game. The team only allowed 33 points or an average of 4.7 points per game.

Front: D. Armstrong, L. Ahasteen, J. Millet, P. Beaty, E. Burnside, J. Valverde, T. Gaston, S. Flannagan, J. Simpson, E. Pavatea, Middle: A. Peaches, M. Dugger, H. Cake, J. Gilmore, R. Ianni, B. Chatter, G. Ahasteen.

The J. V. "B" team in 1969 had a losing season, but the coaches felt the season was a success. In reviewing the season the opening game was played with Joseph City varsity. Having to play under eight man rules the team won a heart stopping game in the closing minutes by going the length of the field to score the winning touchdown.

The second game was played at Window Rock in a driving snowstorm. Although coming out in the short end of the score the team never gave up.

The last two games against Mingus were hard fourth contests with Mingus outlasting the Winslow team.

This year the freshman football team has had an excellent season. Coach Stotts and Conners coached the freshman "A" team and Coach Wilcox the "B" team. The coaches had high praise for the boys on their offensive and defensive team work.

The "A" squad this year had a 6 win 1 loss record, losing their only game to Snowflake by a small margin of only 2 points. The team worked hard this year and developed many talents. The freshman team has to work just as hard as the varsity in many respects. Many of the boys have no real knowledge of the sport when they first go out in September but, when they finish the year they come out shining. The coaches of these teams are to be commended for their devotion to the teams.

The Cross Country Team started slowly this year but progressed during the season to the extent that Winslow placed third at the State Meet in Phoenix. The Varsity participated in ten meets this year plus the Division and State Meets.

During the regular season Winslow placed first in two meets, second in three meets, third in three meets, seventh in one meet, and tenth in one meet. Winslow placed third at the Division Meet and third at the State Meet.

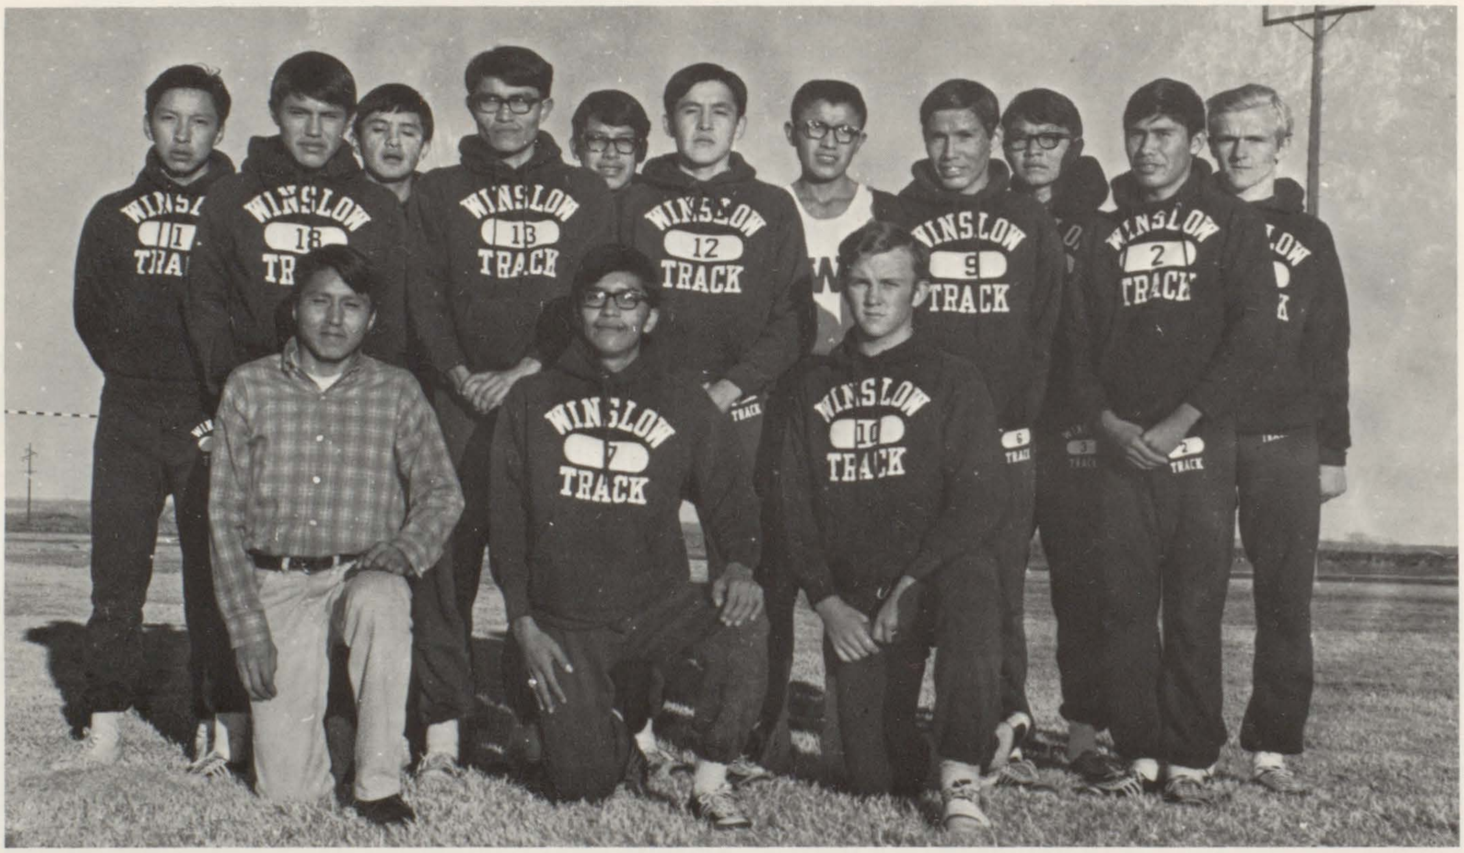

The following boys earned Varsity letters: Joe Begay, Robbie Engels, James Gorman, Alvin John, Kenneth Lewis, Thomas Lewis, Tim Thomas, Marvin Toddy, Jerome Willie, and David Thompson, Manager.

The J. V. team participated in several meets this year and should provide a strong support for next year's squad.

Varsity Wrestlers Take State!

The Winslow Varsity wrestlers finished a very fine but exasperating season. They won their third state championship in a row and their fifth in seven years. The other two years they won second. Winslow makes for a tremendous seven year record.

The team had a victory string of 28 straight dual meet wins plus nine tournaments before they finally suffered one dual meet loss and two tournament losses. Coach McArthur was able to pull his team together and finished the year by winning another state championship for Winslow.

The Varsity wrestlers are justly proud of their long time winning record. In seven years they have never been below second place in any tournament including state and district meets.

Head coach Herman McArthur has been in charge of the wrestling program ever since it started 13 years ago. He and his team are to be congratulated on the fact that they have also won over three fourths of all tournaments they have entered. Wrestling has come of age in Winslow High School.

Coach McArthur was very fortunate in that he had a number of truly fine wrestlers this year. He had several boys who were consistent wrestlers namely Chuck Benham and Dennis Price who won most of their matches all season and fourth at the State Meet. Then there was Dwayne Luther and Tommy Martinez who won nearly all of their matches and placed second at State.

The chants of the cheerleaders were heard over the yelling voices of the spectators. Coach Alford paced the floor nervously. The entire team looked on with an incessant stare. The opponents, scared and tired, looked on with hope drained from their faces. In the center of the mat the opponent began to tire quickly, but our Bulldog was determined to make a pin! The chants of the cheerleaders got louder and the crowd stood on their feet to see the outcome of the battle. The opponent's shoulder got closer and closer to the mat ...and...it's a pin!

Full of action and ready to win best describes the J.V. and Freshman wrestler's season. Both of the teams were under the guidance of Coach Alford. The freshman wrestlers won seven games and lost one and the junior varsity won ten and lost one. Coach Alford has surely enjoyed his second year of our winning wrestling teams.

Coach! Which basket did you say was ours?

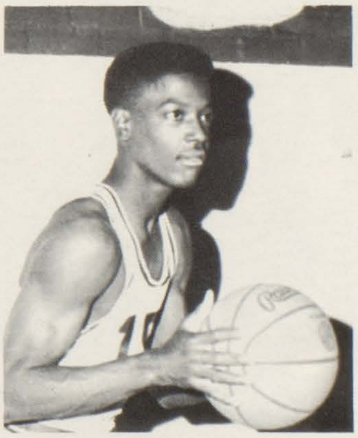

The Winslow High School basketball season was packed full of surprises. Coach Downey took over the varsity team this year after having the J. V. team for only one year. The team finished the season with a 13 win 11 lost record. This was an improvement over the previous seasons. Winslow placed third this year in the Winslow-Holbrook Tournament and also took third in the District Tournament. George Kleindienst was the Bulldogs leading scorer this year with 411 points for an average of 17.1 points per game. Darrell Lane was next with 370 for 15.4 points per game. Edward Thomas was third with 349 points for 15.2 points per game. Edward Thomas was also Winslows leading rebounder with Darrell Lane second, George Kleindienst third and Bucky Wickham fourth. Winslow conference record was 5-5.

The Winslow freshmen basketball team ended their season on a winning note by downing Window Rock 58-53 and Holbrook 80-66. The Freshmen showed that in two or three years other teams had better watch out.

They have the potential of bringing the state basketball championship to Winslow. The freshman statistics are very promising, averaging 71.48 per game as compared to their opponents who hit 60.11. This means they won by an average 11 points per game. The freshmen averaged 50% from the free-throw line and 4% from the field.

The team, happy with the season and ending with 5 straight wins, believe next year they will continue their winning streak. Coach Russel Cooley, just out of college, has made it big in his first year at Winslow High. The members of the team respect him for the talent he brings out in them because he has the type of personality that is easy to get along with.

The Winslow J. V. basketball season was like a ball bouncing up and down. One week they would play like champs and the next they foul up. The overall season showed good promise for next years varsity. There were four or five players who could play a lot of ball on next years team.

The team was led in scoring by Elmer Clark, averaging 10. 4 points per game. He was the only player on J. V. who averaged in double figures in all the games he played in. Rob Neill led the team in rebounding, averaging 12 rebounds per game. The J. V's as a whole averaged 60 points a game as opposed to their opponents 58 per game.

Thoughout the season the team showed great team spirit and worked together good as a team.

Roy Adkins went to the State Championship in the medalist tournament. The season was over-all successful and profitable for all of the team members.

The 1970 Track season developed into a good year for the Bulldogs. The team won three championship trophies, and ended the season by placing fourth at the state meet. The season produced outstanding performances in some events. William (Woody) Franklin set the school record in the two-mile and took first at the state meet. Mark Faucher won the 880 yard run at state and won the newly formed Robert Paul Memorial award given to the fastest racer of the 880 at the Winslow Invitational track meet held annually. James Gorman took second in the state mile run. The quarter mile and mile relay teams did well during the whole season. Many fine young runners began their careers this year and should develop into track athletes. The school can be proud of their track athletes this year as they did exceptionally well.

Recognition has come to the Winslow High Varsity team. Like a whirlwind, this team has swept through five meets undefeated. Lithe and strong are the 13 Varsity girls who went to State this year. And speaking of State, this is the second year in a row that Varsity has won State.

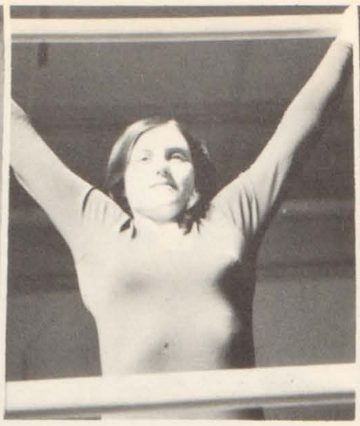

It's a real accomplishment that their coach, Mrs. Hysong, could lead these girls on to their glory despite the distraction that befell her (it was a baby girl)!

Mrs. Hysong has this to say about her girls. "They've worked hard, and we're looking forward to taking State again next year."

The Varsity Cheerleaders Keep Up the Spirit of the 70's

The nineteen sixty-nine varsity cheerleaders have promoted more school spirit than ever before. They have sold tags with humorous sayings and beanies to all students wishing to buy them. Since the varsity football players shaved their heads they were the biggest group to purchase these beanies. The cheerleaders this year have made one new uniform to add to their collection of seven.

Head cheerleader, Elaine Hancock, has taught all three teams the correct way to move during the cheers. The cheerleaders elected Linda Morehead as their Student Council representative for the school year. The four senior cheerleaders have been cheering together for the past four years. Their goal this year is to make the spirit of '70 the best ever. the 1970 cheerleaders hope to be able to go to every meet and watch the Winslow Bulldogs become state champs in everything.

Cheerleaders Promote More School Spirit Than Ever Before in W.H.S. History

The Varsity cheerleaders are leading the Alma Mater at one of the home basketball games.

The Junior Varsity and Freshman cheerleaders have been on the go. They have helped the varsity to sell spirit tags and promote more school spirit. Attending all out-of-town games they have helped to lead their teams on to victory.

The J. V. cheerleaders made one new uniform which is white with gold daisies and trim. Cydney McLaws, who has been cheering for two years, was elected as head cheerleader for the 1969-70 school year.

The freshman cheerleaders have also made one new uniform of maroon and gold. Karen O'Haco was elected their head cheerleader for the year.

For the first time in the history of W. H. S. they have had a boy cheerleader. Shem Taggart was the first ever to have the courage to try out for cheerleader. Shem has lead yells really well. Shem has been very busy this year helping the band at half time and cheering during the varsity games and he deserves a great deal of credit.

Clubs: People's Happening

Organizations help some persons develop their personalities. The most important thing is that one meets people and learns to receive ideas and give them also.

People join organizations for many reasons. Such as, many say to take time off their hands, and they are interested in such subjects as Science or Speech and Drama. Some also join because it gives them an opportunity to compete with others and sometimes win social status, praises, or titles.

Organizations give them the opportunity to go places they would not regularly be able to go. Also, it gives an opportunity to be with people their own age, and meet more of the young people around. It will help a person prepare his life in a way that will help his future interests.

The W.H.S. Student Council promotes and assists in the development of the school as an educational and moral force in the community. It encourages the highest possible development of the individual members of the organization; teaching them good citizenship, fellowship, and sportsmanship.

At the beginning of each year the Council makes or revises a set of by-laws to govern the Council and Association for the coming year.

The students of W.H.S. and the public are kept abreast of high school sports, class and club activities, and all other school extra-curricular activities through the efforts of Student Council members at writing articles for

This year has been an active one for Student Council. A few of the activities it supported were: the Frosh Orientation and Slave Auction, the Homecoming Parade, Class Chain Making Contest, Social Functions have included the Kangaroo Court Dance, and the Twirp Dance. There was even a Pink Panther Week. During that week, Tuesday was PINK day in which everyone wore pink. Wednesday was WHISPER day. Thursday was SHOUT day. And Friday was COLOR day.

It certainly can be said that the Council was active in 1970.

Well, at least someone is working!

This year the members of the annual staff have worked hard to produce your yearbook. The students have learned valuable information in the fields of advertising, sports, layout, promotion, sales, and activities.

Each member of the annual staff contributes to the production of the annual. Each member, also, is as important as the editor, business managers, or the asst. editor.

This summer the annual class sent two representatives, the editor and the asst. editor, to a journalism camp at NAU. They obtained many new ideas for this year's annual.

This year for the first time, the annual class has a textbook. A test is given every six weeks over the material covered in the book.

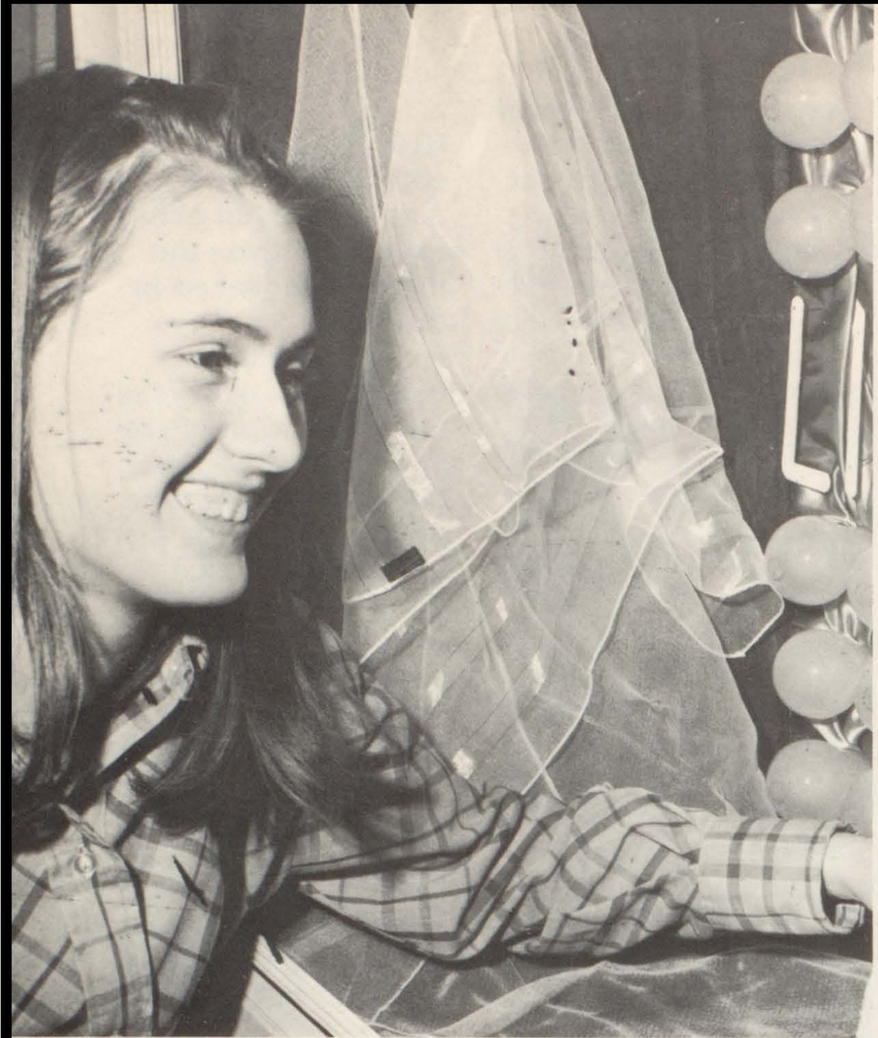

The job of the editor is to over-see the production of the yearbook. The asst. editor is the person being trained for the editorship of next year's annual. The job of the business managers is to sell advertising to the local businessmen and to promote annual sales.

Although annual class is a lot of hard work, the information received can be very valuable in the future.

DECA'S float of blue white and gold won second place in homecoming parade.

DECA was started in W.H.S. in 1962. It is not an old organization but it has progressed in the few years it has been here.

This organization is to further develop education in marketing and distribution which will contribute to vocational competence and also it promotes understanding and appreciation for the responsibilities of citizenship in our free interprise system.

This years DECA students sold candy and raincoats using the money to send delegates to the different conventions.

DECA is a non-profit, non-political, school-centered organization. Members pay local, state, and national dues.

Bulldog Barks Gets New Size Print

The deadline must be met, and the girls will get it done.

The BULLDOG BARKS, an official publication of the Winslow High School, is published every month.

Its main purpose is to inform students and to provide a record of what has happened; so that in years to come people can look back and see in detail what happened during the year.

The New Size Print of the BULLDOG BARKS is a result of the change of print of the WINSLOW MAIL, who prints the Barks.

The BARKS is published by the Journalism class. Advisor is Mr. Walton.

Twelve voices and talent compose the Winslow High School Madrigal Choir. The top four singers in each division (soprano, alto, tenor, and base) of the choir are chosen from the entire Winslow High School Choir. Their activities included singing at Homecoming-1969, the annual Chorus Variety Show and participation in the NAIA Music Festival. Their hard work and perserverance have won them top honors in the past years at this competitive festival.

The 35 members of the Winslow High School Concert Choir play a major part in the role of music at Winslow High. Their activities included the Chorus Variety Show, the annual Dinner Concert, singing at Kiwanis, Elks, Rotary, and usually one over-night trip. The dresses worn by the choir add an attractive appearance to the choir. Both the Madrigal and the Concert Choirs are conducted by Mr. William Arthur.

The "S" Club represents the "services" of about 25 girls from all the grades in Winslow High School. The reorganized club is sponsored by Mrs. Patricia Spinks. The Soroptomist Club of Winslow also sponsors the Club.

"S" Club did everything from selling sachets to babysitting. They helped Key Club decorate the downtown parking meters to promote the Christmas spirit, served at breakfasts, and babysat for several organizations.

The attractive cotton-suede vests were made by each member of the club. They are gold with a blue and gold emblem.

The club has really upheld the characteristic for which they are rightfully named--Service.

Astronomy, Biology, and Radio

The Science Club was organized in 1945 to stimulate interest in science on the part of the students, to bring those interested in science together, and to encourage youth to pursue careers in the field of science.

The meetings usually consist of programs pertaining to science presented by the students and guest speakers.

This year the club has been divided into three sections—Astronomy, Biology, and Radio. For the past year the astronomy section took the opportunity to observe the constellation and take pictures of the planets and the nebulosilies. The Biology section made plaster molds of a cell during the process of mitosis. The radio section attempted to start a radio station.

Porky Pig, Bugs Bunny . . . Where's Daffy Duck?

"P. Williams and S. Cody discuss the evening club meeting."

For the past years Spanish Club has been active in various activities and it continues to be active. Its purpose is to provide the members with the practice of using the Spanish language, and to increase the members' knowledge of the Latin American nations, their people, their customs, and culture.

"No hay atajo sin trabajo," which roughly means "there is no short-cut to learning," is the motto of Spanish Club.

In the past, the club has taken trips to fun resort areas such as Oak Creek, has put on plays, bake sales, Spanish dinners, and published club newspapers.

The Bible Club motto is "Youth For Christ, " and their theme is "Christ For Me." Bible Club, which is inter-denominational, provides Christian fellowship for all high school students. The main goal of this club is to promote Christianity among the students of Winslow High.

To provide Christian fellowship and guidance for interested members of our high school, the Bible Club has a wide variety of activities. Evangelists visiting local churches come to speak at the club meetings, as well as the ministers of the community. At other times, the club meetings consist of some Biblical quizzes or of recreational periods. The students themselves, will sometimes present programs of interest and inspiration.

This year the group sold plastic animals which the high school students all seemed to love.

March 7, the Speech and Drama Club boarded a bus bound to Window Rock for the Navajo-Land Speech Tournament. Winslow had participants in Debate, Oral Interpretation of Prose, Poetry, and Drama, Extemporaneous Speaking, Oratory, and also a One Act Play.

At the end of the tournament, during the awards assembly, our Speech and Drama Club was presented with a Traveling Trophy for being the Sweepstakes Winner.

On March 14, the Speech and Drama Club again traveled to a Speech Tournament. This time to Flagstaff for the District Speech and Drama Tournament. The top six in each event will go to State in April. Winslow came home proud of their Runner-up Sweepstakes Trophy.

The purpose of F.T.A. is to promote interest in the field of teaching. Students get experience through teaching various grades ranging from third grade to eighth.

This year the officers went to the officers workshop held at Williams High School. Members of F.T.A. attended the State Convention, in Tucson in April.

Their money making projects were selling candy, bakesales, and a chili supper.

They had a variety of programs presented by outstanding teachers in their field. Movies of interest, which dealt with teaching, were also provided.

Nurses of Tomorrow is an organization created with the purpose of encouraging students in the medical field. During the year, a variety of programs were presented on some aspect of medicine. They had guest speakers such as Mr. Walton, who discussed Winslow's new hospital. They had educational films and programs given by the girls themselves.

This year the N.O.T. girls raised money from a bakesale and gave it to Mrs. Ashenfelter, who is blind because of an unsuccessful catarac operation. In order to go to Albuquerque the girls sold candy and cards.

This year's FHA organization was sponsored by Mrs. Spinks and Mrs. Stewart.

FHA is a school organization developed for the purpose of providing experiences that broaden the home economics education program, and to add that the over-all goals of FHA and the home economics program are the same. . ."To help individuals improve personal, family, and community living." This goal and the eight FHA purposes serve as constant guides to program development at all levels of the organization.

1. Individual growth
2. Improving home and family living
3. Preparing for community living
4. Understanding others
5. Selecting a career
6. Practicing the democratic way of living
7. Basing experiences on needs
8. Living what is learned and learning to evaluate.

The Sound of Music Playing

This year's orchestra was under the direction of Mr. Summerskill, who took the place of Mr. O'Kelly. Orchestra met daily to practice for performances. Some of their performances were: the Christmas concert, Baccalaureate, Graduation and the Honor Society Assembly.

Throughout the year the members held many kinds of concerts to earn money for scholarships so that they would be able to send people to music camp.

One of the classical songs was the Rodeo Suite.

Orchestra-Front row: S. Light, C. Fuller, Sec. and Treas; K. Sherrill, G. Sorensen, M. Hesser, V. Cook, M. Ayres, Pres.; 2nd row: V. Podruchny, P. Nichols, J. Leatte, T. Rice, G. Higgenson, S. The main purpose of the band is to advance musical knowledge and develop talent.

The band contributed spirit to all home football games and pep assemblies. Pam Allen, Jackie Ewan, and Niki Juarez, with the help of many other students, made up the March of the Siamese Children for the first year ever.

During the concert season, the band made many appearances which included the All School Christmas Program, the winter concert, spring concert, and the graduation ceremonies.

Students competed in the Northern Arizona Musical Festival, which was held in Flagstaff. The people who participated this year in the All State Band, held in Phoenix, were Richard Douglas-oboe, Patricia Williams-clarinet, Connie Thompson-clarinet, Harry Jue-trombone, Shem Taggart-trombone, and Dave Rencher-trumpet.

The band also made a spring tour which was the highlight of their musical experience.

"Horse" Leads the Way

The scared meteorettes stand ready to perform the "Horse" at the Homecoming assembly.

Being meteorettes takes time and courage. They are required to kick shoulder high, do the splits, learn a routine taught by some of the old members, and make their own. They were allowed to perform their routine to any record they preferred. Then came one of the most scarey and exciting event in their lives. They had to perform their routine in front of the judges. The finals were the W.H.S. Meteorettes.

From the "March of the Siamese Twins" to the "Horse" the school year kept the meteorettes on their toes. Unique was a word that would fully describe the group. Over 20 routines were made up by them excluding the marches they performed with the band during football season. They also participated in the Rodeo, Homecoming, and Christmas parades. An added attraction was the school colored Pom-Poms, and white leather uniforms.

This year Niki Juarez was chosen to be the only majorette for W.H.S. during the school year. She was also a majorette in her sophomore and junior school year.

Dressed in her glittering gold uniform she performed during half-time of football and basketball games. One of her performances included twirling fire batons in the air to the music of "Born Free". Stepping high and proud ahead of the band she marched in all the city's parades. Her counselor was Mrs. Sue Hysong.

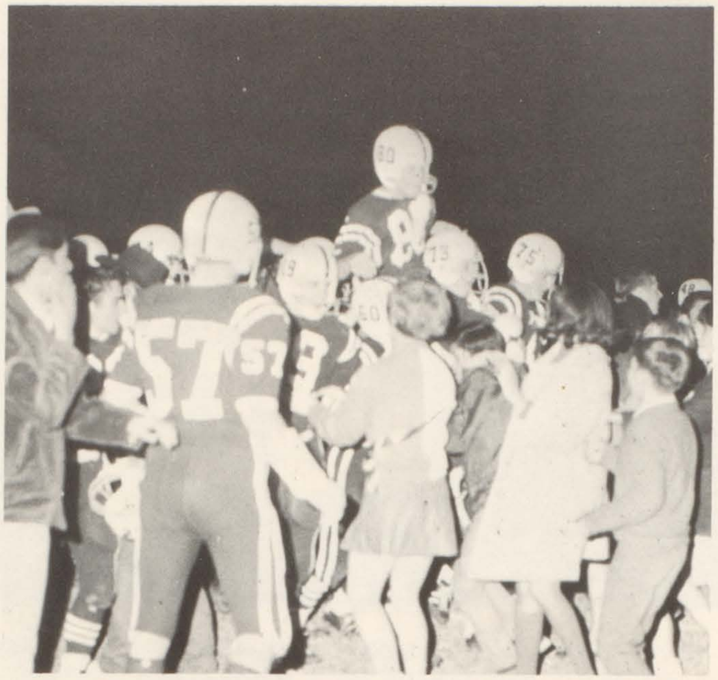

Above: Roxie performs at the football game with her fellow meteorettes.

Pep Squad consists of girls from grades 9-12, who are interested in promoting school spirit. They take an active part in all athletic games and other school functions. Sponsoring pep assemblies and rallies throughout the sports seasons, they maintain a feeling of pep and spirit in W.H.S. Every year the Pep Squad selects the dedicated for Homecoming. New members are initiated their Sophomore year instead of their freshmen year as a new rule this year. This year the spirited club took several buses to out-of-town games to support the mighty Bulldogs. They were always there cheering and encouraging the team to victory.

Happy Bulldog fans congratulate their victorious team.

Active G.A.A.

The Girls Athletic Association is design to promote girls' interest in sports, to improve health, and to develop sportsmanship. It is sponsored by Mrs. Hysong, and is opened to all girls from 9-12 grades. The club meets every Monday from 4 o'clock to 5 o'clock participating in sports ranging from ping-pong to gymnastics. They usually sponsor bicycle rides annually, and are active in school affairs.

Cydney demonstrates her talent on the trampoline by doing a back flip.

Ray Segar welcomed the honored guests and their parents.

On May 5, 1970, the annual American Youth Day banquet sponsored by the Winslow B. P. O. E. Lodge No. 536 was held. Dr. Earl Reum, Director of Student activities, Denver public schools, was the featured speaker. The subject of his address was "Miracle."

James Curtis, principal, presented certificates and awards to approximately 85 students. Recognitions were made to honor students, presidents of classes and school-sponsored clubs, gymnastics and atheletic excellence.

Also honored were librarians, candidates to Girls' and Boys' State, out-standing students in metal, home economics, English, history, science and those with achievements in music, drama, and the arts.

Two Winslow High School students were presented awards for placing in the state and national competition for the Elk's Most Valuable Student. Jackie Ewan placed third in state competition, and Richard Douglas was named fourth most valuable student in the nation. George Kleindienst was also acknowledged as being the first Winslow High student to be appointed to the U. S. Air Force Academy.

Elks Honor W.H.S. Youth

People ate and had a good time as expressed in this picture.

Dalene Blair was being honored as the president of the Meteorettes.

Earl Reum closed the banquet with a speach about the value of youth leadership in the nation.

Richard Douglas, first in state for most valuable student and fourth in the nation, and Jackie Ewan, third in state for most valuable student, were honored at the banquet.

The sorrow-heavy soldiers march in solemn, yet somehow proud procession, their footfalls rhythmic,
but heartbeats rushed, their silence loud.

Their burden is weighted still more by the memories, the lingering fears that remind them of fate, that unforseeably and inevitably, ticks off their years.

The friend they honor is a silent symbol of the dirt, the blood, the Asian night,
the crying children, the roar of bombs,
a frightened people, the peace for which they fight.

ETERNITY

In the light of dawn
When all is still---
When the majesty of night
Battles the daylight's will,
There lies eternity.

When the young fledging
First flexes his wings---
And lifts his tiny body
From all earthly things,
There lies eternity.

In a common subway
'Neath strife torn streets--
When a black smile and a white
Meet, and silently greet,
There lies eternity.

When two young hearts
Amid corruption growing
Find love free of the shackles
Of lust yet not unloving--
There lies eternity.

THE TEACHER'S EXODUS OF 69

It was the year of sixty-nine,
A great year, so they say,
But all the teachers had to leave;
Each went his sep'rate way.

First Tom, our leader, left us here,
And went to Victor ville.
He left the band in goodly hands;
His name was Summersgill.

Next an English teacher left us.
They called him Mister Howe.
Off he went to Old Missouri,
To teach and raise a cow.

Mr. Greer was next in line,
A college class to teach.
He left behind his basketball,
And Abilene did reach.

A lady was the next to go;
As pretty as a lark.
She taught English and history;
Her name was Mrs. Clark.

Mr. Taylor then retired,
The country for too see.
He left behind his funny jokes;
A loss to chemistry.

Glen Olmstead left the High School next,
He also did retire.
He left his bell in woodwork though,
In case of theft or fire.

Geometry was next to lose
Mr. Wright, so brave and strong.
He put his pens and books aside
To fight the Viet Cong.

A golf instructor was the last.
He taught algebra one.
He wasn't really bad
Mr. MacAntosh was kind of fun.
Harry Martin, Richard Douglas, Glen Mattox

This brings our ballad to an end.
Our take now has been told.
Which teacher will be next to go?
The future will be hold.

FORDS

People say that Ford Cars
Are the best ones by far.
When they come up to the line
Some people praise if it were a shrine.
When it starts it burns the tires
As if to make doubters liars.
To the people who say,
"Fords are the better way,"
I can tell you all now
You'd do better with a cow.
So let me tell you this my friend
Before Ford has you in it's trend,
You buy a Ford, you by the best
You ride a mile, and walk the rest.

Jerry McGeehee

Seasons, Seasons and still...

The sun blazes in the afternoon sky.
The wind wraps my body in a warm blanket,
And I lie in the white sand
Watching the hermit crabs crawl about
Dodging the green sea's white fingers
And the funny little birds racing
Back and forth, back and forth,
Never losing to the green and white.
Tall and skinny the grass stands
Like people in the city--crowded, but
But never touching.
Little children tunning
Back and forth, back an forth.
And time is inexistant.
And I lie in the white sand
Smelling the salt and the sand.
And I am content
Lying on the white sand
Watching it sparkle when I move my hand;
Sand and the sun unite
For me to live with them.
The warm sand feels delicious
On my bare belly.
It clings to my arms, and my legs, and
My belly.
My hair knows no manners
For it flys with the warm wind--
Carassing my neck,
And flying in my eyes,
And finding its way into my mouth
Along with the sand and the salt.
The sun is a lazy glass balloon
Hanging in the sky.
And summer is almost over.

Academics are truly the students' happening. Here they express themselves in the main faction of school life--learning. On these two pages are poems written by students who have learned to express themselves. On the following pages are the students and the teachers who have helped them to learn how to express their emotion and ideas.

Seniors Bid Fond Farewell

Our freshman year we were so bright;
We took our books home and studied 'till late in the night.
We accustomed ourselves to the school,
And almost went by every rule.

Our sophomore year we were much more jolly;
Books and rules were becoming the school's folly.
We cut up worms, clams, and crayfish too;
Constructions and proving theorms we did do!

Our junior year we had lots of fun;
We had homework? Why, "son of a gun!"
We got our class rings; half were given away,
And "Muzzy" seemed to be the joy of the day.

Then we were Seniors, kings of school,
What did you say was a rule?
Our class and ditch day was a blast;
And then graduation, at long last!

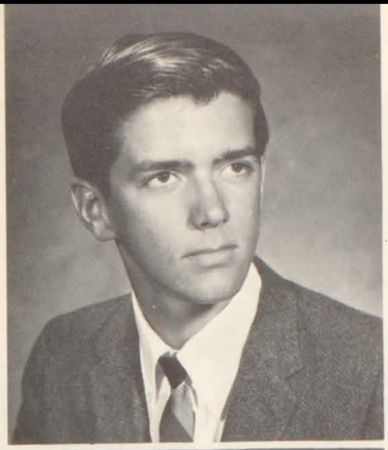

Now, we the seniors bid fond farewells;
And we will no longer hear our school bells.
We will all leave and go our own ways;
But one thing for sure, we will never forget our old school days.

"And fare thee weel, my only luve,
And fare thee weel a while!
And I will come again, my luve,
Tho' it were ten thousand mile!"*

Juniors: One More Year to Go

1969-70 junior class officers. Front row: Tilfred Oso, president; Dee Harrah, representative; Carla Brown, Sec.; Jeanne S., rep.; Mary M., v. pres.; Mike F., rep.

The year began with the students' ego overflowing to the rim. Some were all ready to start the school year as upper-classmen. Now they could look down on the freshmen and sophomores; leading them to promising leadership. Their schedules were all planned according to the student's interests, and mainly because they had to take five subjects. One subject in particular was Muzzey, a dreaded word for all juniors. It spoiled all the fun because it was required. Muzzey may have never occurred to juniors as something vital to their lives, but it was very vital in the life of being a senior the following year.

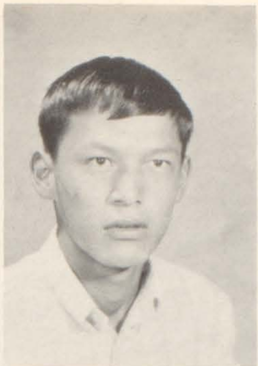

During the middle of the first semester they were notified in choosing and paying for their class ring. What a thrill, and what a bill! The day when the juniors finally got their rings, they looked down at them. The emblem looked them in the eyes. There lay the proof and work of three years.

In January there were Junior Play tryouts. Enthusiastic juniors took play books home and shut themselves in their rooms to practice their southern and nasal drawals. The cast was chosen by the English teacher, Mr. Harris and student director, Debbie Zachry.

In April the juniors sponsored their annual Junior Prom for the upperclassmen and their dates. During several months they planned and ordered the necessities. A week before the appointed date they decorated the gymnasium. It was fun and rewarding for some juniors.

There were many activities participated in such as, class-meetings, working in concession stands, bake sales, and car washes.

For most juniors their year was very different from their freshman and sophomore years. They had more responsibility, freedom, and intelligence to succeed their eleventh year. It was the first time for many in doing many things. Most look back and wonder "where did it all go?" Yet some look forward and say, "one more year to go!"

Sophomore Class Easily Takes Homecoming Float Contest

Front Row-T. Gaston, R. Ewan, C. McLaws. Back Row-E. Wright, J. Letts, S. Zukowski, M. Faucher.

Last year W.H.S. halls were filled with the cherubic faces and screeching laughter of young freshmen. This year however, these same faces have taken on more mature lines. The sophomores of 1970 have squared their shoulders in readiness to assume new responsibilities.

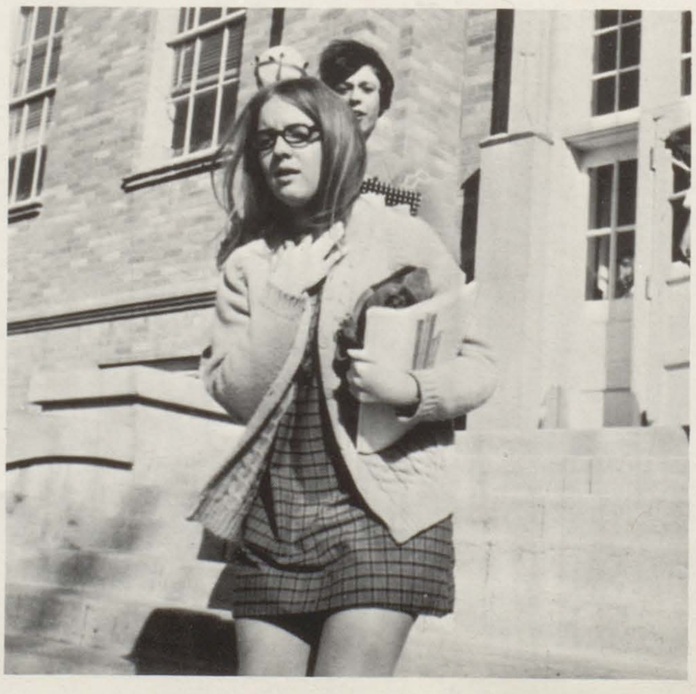

Along with these added responsibilities, the sophomore class shared in the fun of the whole student body. In contrast to the squeamish task of dissecting their first frogs, the sophomores got their first chance to buy frosh slaves at the Slave Auction.

This school year the sophomore class stole the honor of having won the Homecoming float decorating contest. They designed a brilliant float based on the theme; "____ is the Going Thing." The winning float was a Roman chariot pulled by six strong sophomore soldiers. Whipping the Paradise Valley Trojans was THEIR Going Thing.

This class is also very cooperative in spirit. Although they didn't win, the sophomores participated in the hall decorating contest and the chain making contest.

To the sophomores, the sophomores are happening. But they will be happening all through their four years of high school.

Freshmen Explore Winslow Canyons

Marty, Renee, and Paul sing Five Hundred Miles at the Freshman-Sophomore assembly.

Where's the English room? Where's room G-1? Where's the Science room? These were some of the many questions the freshman students asked each other their first day in Winslow High School. During their first week their annual orientation was held. Here, they were taught the school song and the school cheers. They were informed of the many clubs they could join and the sports they could participate in. There was an auction sale of these students. They obeyed the upperclassman who had bought them for a period of one week. Other activities were held for them along with the other classes. Throughout the year the class was active and Winslow High School is proud to have them.

In order to happen, everyone must depend upon someone else to help him. The merchants in Winslow have supplied the materials for people. Everyone must eat and sleep in order to live. The necessities of life come first.

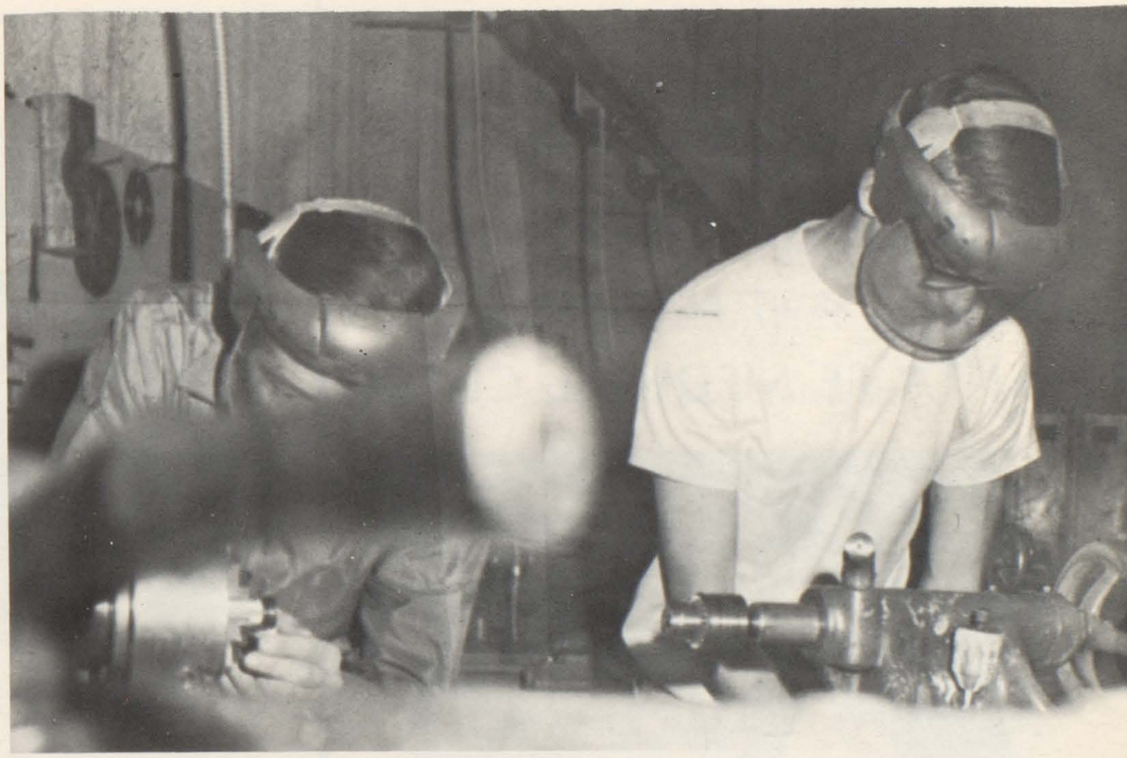

The various organizations about town have provided the enjoyments of life for the students. These people gave us a place to happen.

The patrons who have so generously bought an ad to support THE METEOR are supporting the readers too. Support them and keep on happening.

Burrage and Luther Promote People's Happening to Fullest Capacity

Every year a senior boy and girl are chosen by the annual class to be honored in the yearbook for doing the most for the school with the least amount of recognition.

We searched through the halls, classes, and activities of Winslow High School until we found beneath a pile of annual receipts, surrounded by an aura of formaldehyde, Linda Burrage, our annual queen.

Then in the football field on the shoulders of his teammates, we found the friendly Laguana, Dewayne Luther, our annual king.

"Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints."

Psalm 116:15

In memoriam of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Eugene Brown and Janet Inez Brown.

New Ideas, a Continuous Story

Forward we go. Even though you have come to the end of the 1970 METEOR, this is not the end of "a people's happening." Instead it is the continuing story of Winslow High School. Of course, people's faces will change, as well as the times, but the school will still be a place of learning about people and studies and of participating in sports and social activities.

This year has been the beginning of a new decade -- the Seventies. It is the arising of new explorations and growing rebellion. While boys explored bared legs of girls, the girls watched in amazement as boys grew hair (long enough to reach collars) on shaved skulls.

People happening also happened in annual class where the staff tried to put these new concepts on to paper. Thoughts weren't always the good-natured sort, but after much restraint, they produced a yearbook they knew they could be proud of.

I will refrain from thanking anyone, because the true thanks will be from you, the reader, when you express your opinion of the hard work and headaches that went into the quality of the 1970 METEOR. This book is, in all truthfulness, the property of the main characters, the people you see happening on every page.

These people did "their thing." They gave the annual staff the clay to mold into a new unusual yearbook. When you read the yearbook, I hope that you will remember that this is Winslow High School's "People's Happening."
